Rumpole of the Bailey is a British television series created and written by the British writer and barrister John Mortimer. It starred Leo McKern as Horace Rumpole, an elderly London barrister who defended a broad variety of clients, often underdogs. The TV series led to the stories being presented in other media including books and radio. The "Bailey" of the title is a reference to the Central ...

1. What's the difference between being a part of the crowd and a devoted disciple? 2. What does this statement mean to you: " Loving Jesus should be so intense it makes everything else look like hate."? 3. If you were to venture a guess, what would you say is the depth of commitment to Christ for the average believer?

John Donne's standing as a great English poet, and one of the greatest writers of English prose, is now assured. However, it has been confirmed only in the early 20th century. The history of Donne's reputation is the most remarkable of any major writer in English; no other body of great poetry has fallen so far from favor for so long and been generally condemned as inept and crude.
