The original gamebooks were distinctive digest-sized black pamphlets (the so-called "little black books") produced by Game Designers' Workshop (GDW). The main rules were detailed in three such booklets, sold as a boxed set while the same format was used for early support material, such as the adventures, supplements and further books. Later supplements and updated versions of the main game ...

While biofiltration is widely used across North America, filter health assessment and biofilter monitoring is conducted in an ad-hoc fashion. Thus, the AWWA Biological Drinking Water Treatment Committee has developed a preconference workshop focused on providing attendees an understanding of best practices and tools/equipment utilized for filter health assessment and biofilter monitoring.

Underwater diving, as a human activity, is the practice of descending below the water's surface to interact with the environment. Immersion in water and exposure to high ambient pressure have physiological effects that limit the depths and duration possible in ambient pressure diving. Humans are not physiologically and anatomically well adapted to the environmental conditions of diving, and ...
